Glossary

To help you to understand this PIS, the meanings of some words used in this PIS are set out below.

AUD means Australian dollars.

Clear Funds means funds that are immediately available on settlement.

Confirmation means a letter confirming the terms of a particular TFC.

Contingent Amount means the additional amount of currency you will be obliged to exchange with us at the Contingent Rate if the Trigger Level is reached at the Cut-Off Time.

Contingent Delivery Date means the date on which the Contingent Amount will be exchanged with us at the Contingent Rate if the Trigger Level is reached at the Cut-Off Time.

Contingent Rate means the agreed exchange rate at which the Contingent Amount will be exchanged with us on the Contingent Delivery Date if the Trigger Level is reached at the Cut-Off Time.

Contract Amount means the agreed amount as set out as such in the Confirmation. It is to be exchanged with us on the Maturity Date.

Contract Rate means the exchange rate at which the Currency Pair will be exchanged on the Maturity Date.

Currency Pair means the two currencies applying in respect of a TFC. The currency pair must be acceptable to us.

Cut-Off Time means the time and date set out as such in the Confirmation. It is the time and date at which our obligations to each other, if any, on the Contingent Delivery Date will be determined.

Forward Exchange Rate means the price of one currency in terms of another currency for delivery on a specified date in the future taking into account our costs and profit margin. This is the rate that we would make available to you at the relevant time.

Global Foreign Exchange Rate means the exchange rate for the TFC Currency Pair that is based on the price of one or more actual foreign exchange transactions in the Global Market involving the Currency Pair (or cross-rates constituting the Currency Pair). This rate will be determined by us in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner. This rate is the rate that we use to determine whether or not the Trigger Level is reached.

Global Market means the global spot foreign exchange market, open continuously from 5.00am Sydney time on a Monday in any week to 5.00pm New York time of the Friday of that week.

Market Foreign Exchange Rate means the price of one currency in terms of another currency for delivery on the same day after taking into account our costs and profit margin. This is the rate that we would make available to you at the relevant time.

Maturity Date means the date set out as such in the Confirmation. It is the date on which the Contract Amount will be exchanged with us at the Contract Rate. It is also the date on which your obligations on the Contingent Delivery Date, if any, are determined.

TFC and Target Forward Contract means the product which is the subject of this PIS.

Trigger Level means the agreed exchange rate which, if reached at the Cut-Off Time on the Maturity Date, obliges you to exchange the Contingent Amount with us at the Contingent Rate on the Contingent Delivery Date.

USD means United States Dollars.

We, our or us means Westpac Banking Corporation and includes us trading as St. George Bank, Bank of Melbourne and BankSA.

Westpac Group means Westpac Banking Corporation and its related bodies corporate.

You, your means the customer entering into a TFC.

Zero Cost Structure means a structure where the relevant foreign exchange rates are set so that there are no up-front out-of-pocket costs payable by you. The cost is effectively embedded in the foreign exchange rates applicable to the TFC.

Target Forward Contract (TFC)

What is a TFC?

A TFC is an agreement with us that provides you with protection against unfavourable exchange rate movements by setting a Contract Rate at which you will exchange an amount of one currency for another. This Contract Rate will be more favourable than the Forward Exchange Rate available to you on the trade date.

In return for receiving this more favourable rate, if a pre-agreed Trigger Level is reached at a nominated Cut-Off Time you will be obliged to exchange an additional amount of currency at an agreed rate on another agreed date in the future.

A TFC may be useful in managing the currency risk associated with exporting or importing goods denominated in foreign currency, investing or borrowing overseas, repatriating profits, converting foreign currency denominated dividends, or settling other foreign currency contractual arrangements.

How do TFCs work?

When you enter into a TFC, you nominate the two currencies to be exchanged. These currencies are known as the Currency Pair and must be acceptable to us. You also nominate a Contract Amount, a Maturity Date, a Contingent Amount, a Contingent Delivery Date and a Cut-Off Time.

We agree to a Contract Rate, a Trigger Level and a Contingent Rate. Although you will have input into the setting of these rates, the rates selected must achieve a Zero Cost Structure. (See 'What are the costs' on page 7.) Not all selections will achieve a Zero Cost Structure and we will help you to calculate the rates needed to do so based on your nominated details.

The Contract Rate is the rate at which you will exchange the Contract Amount with us on the Maturity Date.

The Trigger Level is the nominated foreign exchange rate which, if reached at the Cut-Off Time, triggers your obligation to exchange the Contingent Amount with us on the Contingent Delivery Date. This exchange takes place at the Contingent Rate.

The possible outcomes under a TFC are:

On the Maturity Date, the Contract Amount will always be exchanged with us at the Contract Rate.

On the Contingent Delivery Date:

- if the Trigger Level is reached at the Cut-Off Time the Contingent Amount will be exchanged with us at the Contingent Rate; or
- if the Trigger Level is not reached at the Cut-Off Time you have no obligation to exchange the Contingent Amount. You can choose to separately exchange your currency at the prevailing Market Foreign Exchange Rate if you wish to do so.

How do we monitor the exchange rate?

At the Cut-Off Time we will monitor the relevant foreign exchange markets to determine whether the Global Foreign Exchange Rate has reached the Trigger Level and we will advise you what your obligations will be, if any, on the Contingent Delivery Date.

The Cut-Off Time and Contingent Delivery Date will be specified in the Confirmation that outlines the commercial terms of the transaction.

Are there any credit requirements before dealing?

Before entering into a TFC, we will assess your financial position to determine whether or not your situation satisfies our normal credit requirements. We will advise you of the outcome of its review as soon as possible.

If your application is successful, you will need to sign our standard finance documentation. This documentation sets out the terms of the credit approval and other matters relevant to your application.

What happens on the Maturity Date and the Contingent Delivery Date?

The Contract Amount will always be exchanged with us at the Contract Rate on the Maturity Date. Depending on where the Global Foreign Exchange Rate is at the Cut-Off Time, the Contingent Amount may need to be exchanged on the Contingent Delivery Date as well. This means on the Maturity Date and potentially the Contingent Delivery Date you will need to provide us with either foreign currency or Australian dollars (AUD) to settle your obligations.

You can provide foreign currency either by telegraphic transfer or by transferring funds from a foreign currency account/deposit. You must provide AUD in Clear Funds. On receipt of the funds, we will deposit amounts owing to you into a bank account with us (in your name), denominated in the relevant currency. Alternative arrangements can be made with our agreement.

Can I terminate a TFC?

You may ask us to terminate the TFC at any time up to the Cut-Off Time. We will then provide you with a termination quote. There will be a cost or a gain arising as a result of termination. If you accept the termination quote, we will terminate the TFC.

Our quote will incorporate the same variables used when pricing the original TFC. These will be adjusted for the prevailing conditions in respect of the remaining term of the TFC. We will also need to consider the cost of reversing or offsetting your original transaction. When doing this we take into account the current market rates that apply to any offsetting transactions.

After the Cut-Off Time, if the Trigger Level has been reached and you are obliged to exchange the Contingent Amount on the Contingent Delivery Date you may ask us to terminate that transaction at any time up to the Contingent Delivery Date.

Our quote will reflect the remaining term of the contract and the Global Foreign Exchange Rates that apply to any offsetting transaction. If you accept the termination quote, we will terminate our respective obligations for the Contingent Delivery Date.

Costs, Benefits and Risks

What are the costs?

There are no up-front out-of-pocket costs with a TFC. Once the Contract Amount, Maturity Date, Contingent Amount, Contingent Date and Cut-Off Time are nominated by you the Contract Rate, Trigger Level and Contingent Rate will be set at particular levels in order to achieve a Zero Cost Structure. When determining these rates we take several factors into account including:

- the size of the TFC (both the Contract Amount and Contingent Amount);
- the Maturity Date;
- the Contingent Delivery Date;
- Global Foreign Exchange Rates;
- market volatility; and
- market interest rates of the countries of the Currency Pair.

While there are no up-front costs with TFCs, we still derive a financial benefit by incorporating a margin into the Contract Rate, the Trigger Level and the Contingent Rate. This means that these rates will be different to the market rate prevailing at that time. In effect you pay for the TFC by accepting the Contract Rate, Trigger Level and the Contingent Rate quoted by us.

Key Benefits

Protection

TFCs provide you with protection against unfavourable foreign exchange movements between the time you enter into a TFC and the Cut-Off Time. This can assist you in managing your foreign currency exposures. On the Maturity Date, you will be protected at the Contract Rate for the Contract Amount.

Coverage

TFCs are available for a wide range of currencies. Please contact us to confirm your desired currency is covered. Our contact details are set out on the inside front cover.

Potential to outperform Forward Exchange Rates

A TFC provides you with a more favourable Contract Rate than the Forward Exchange Rate available to you on the trade date, for the Contract Amount. It also provides you with the potential to exchange the Contingent Amount at the Contingent Rate, which is more favourable than the Forward Exchange Rate available to you on the trade date.

Flexibility

TFCs are flexible. Key variables including the Contingent Amount, Contingent Delivery Date, Cut-Off Time and Contingent Rate can all be tailored to meet your particular needs.

Key Risks

Variation/Early termination

Terminations or variations may result in a cost to you – see the section titled ‘Can I terminate a TFC?’ on page 7 for more information.

No cooling-off period

There is no cooling-off period. This means that, in most circumstances, once you enter into a TFC, you cannot terminate or vary the TFC without our consent. See ‘Variation / Early termination’ section above.

Opportunity loss and potential obligation to exchange an amount greater than the Contract Amount

You will forego any benefit of a favourable exchange rate movement between the time you enter a TFC and the Cut-Off Time on movements beyond the Contract Rate for the Contract Amount.

If the Trigger Level is reached at the Cut-Off Time you will be obliged to transact the Contingent Amount on the Contingent Delivery Date at the Contingent Rate. If this occurs, you will forego the benefit of any favourable movements beyond the Contingent Rate.

The Contingent Rate may not be as favourable as the Forward Exchange Rate available to you at the Cut-Off Time, when your obligation on the Contingent Delivery Date is determined.

The overall exchange rate achieved for the Contract Amount and the Contingent Amount may not be as favourable as the rate you could have achieved with forward foreign exchange contracts or if you had not entered into a TFC at all.

If the Trigger Level is not reached at the Cut-Off Time the Contingent Amount is not protected against unfavourable exchange rate movements.

Counterparty and operational risk

As is the case with most financial markets products we enter into, we have performance obligations under a TFC. If we are unable to perform our obligations under your TFC, you may be exposed to foreign exchange rate fluctuations as if you had not entered into a TFC.

Our ability to fulfil our obligations is linked to our financial wellbeing and to the effectiveness of our internal systems, processes and procedures. The first type of risk (our financial wellbeing) is commonly referred to as credit or counterparty risk. The second type of risk (the effectiveness of our internal systems, processes and procedures) is commonly referred to as operational risk.

You must make your own assessment of our ability to meet our obligations. However, as a regulated Australian bank we are subject to prudential regulation which is intended to reduce the risk of us failing to perform our obligations.

Further information about Westpac, including copies of our recent financial statements, is available on our website at westpac.com.au

Currency restrictions

Delivery of some currencies may be governed by, or subject to certain legal and regulatory requirements and obligations. It is your responsibility to ensure that these laws and regulations are complied with and we suggest you seek and obtain your own independent expert advice in relation to such matters.

Use of agent and correspondent banks

To deliver some currencies (other than AUD), we may use agents and correspondent banks. We will use reasonable care in the selection of such agents and correspondent banks.

If the agent or correspondent bank fails to deliver the required currency when due, we will work with the agent or correspondent bank to effect delivery. If after such action delivery cannot be made, we will promptly return your funds or make alternative arrangements with you.

To the extent allowed by law, we will not be liable for any direct or indirect losses, claims, actions or expenses incurred by you as a result of the failure by an agent or correspondent bank to deliver the required currency.

Examples

The examples below are illustrative only and use rates and figures selected to demonstrate how the product works. In order to assess the merits of any TFC, you would need to use the actual rates and figures quoted to you at the time. Note that the calculations below include rounding of decimal places.

Scenario 1 – Foreign Currency Payment

You are an Australian based importer with a recurring requirement to pay USD 100,000 every three months for goods bought overseas. On each payment date, you need to convert your AUD into USD.

Assume the current Market Foreign Exchange Rate is 0.6700, the three-month Forward Exchange Rate is 0.6710 and the six-month Forward Exchange Rate is 0.6720.

If I do nothing, what exchange rate risks do I face?

If you do nothing, the amount of AUD you will need on any quarterly payment date to obtain the USD you are due to pay will depend on the Market Foreign Exchange Rate applicable at that time.

If the AUD/USD exchange rate goes up, the USD will become less valuable and as a consequence, you will need less AUD when it is time to obtain the USD. Assume in this example that the AUD/USD Market Foreign Exchange Rate rises to 0.7200, then you will pay:

AUD 138,888.89 (= USD 100,000 / 0.7200)

If the AUD/USD Market Foreign Exchange Rate goes down, the opposite occurs and you will need more AUD. Assume the AUD/ USD Market Foreign Exchange Rate falls to 0.6200, then you will pay:

AUD 161,290.32 (= USD 100,000 / 0.6200)

How will a TFC change this?

Assume that while you expect the AUD/USD exchange rate to remain around current levels, you wish to protect your next quarterly payment against the AUD depreciating against the USD. In addition, you have a target rate in mind at which you are prepared to exchange your following USD payment in six-months' time.

You enter into a TFC to buy USD 100,000 for AUD in three months' time (on the Maturity Date) and set the Contract Rate at 0.6750. You also nominate a Contingent Rate of 0.6850, a Contingent Amount of USD 100,000, a Contingent Delivery Date of six months and agree the Cut-Off Time to be 10am Sydney time on the Maturity Date. Based on these details we determine the Trigger Level to be 0.6800.

The possible outcomes are:

- (i) On the Maturity Date you will exchange the Contract Amount (USD 100,000) at the Contract Rate of 0.6750. You will pay:
AUD 148,148.15 (= USD 100,000 / 0.6750)
and,
- (ii) On the Contingent Delivery Date, either:
 - (a) if the Market Foreign Exchange Rate at the Cut- Off Time is above the Trigger Level of 0.6800 you will exchange your AUD at the Contingent Rate of 0.6850.

You will pay:

AUD 145,985.40 (= USD100,000 / 0.6850)

or,

- (b) if the Market Foreign Exchange Rate at the Cut- Off Time is below the Trigger Level of 0.6800 you have no obligation in respect of the Contingent Amount. However, you may choose to separately exchange your Contingent Amount at the Market Foreign Exchange Rate.

How can I change the range of outcomes?

You can change the range of possible outcomes by changing the Contract Rate, the Trigger Level, the Cut-Off Time and the Contingent Rate. Once these details are agreed the possible outcomes on the Maturity Date and the Contingent Delivery Date can be determined.

When agreeing to these rates you need to consider that:

- the Contract Amount is always exchanged at the Contract Rate on the Maturity Date.
- a higher Contract Rate will provide you with a more favourable conversion rate for the Contract Amount. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contingent Rate will be lower. Accordingly, this will adversely impact the rate at which the Contingent Amount is exchanged on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached.
- a lower Contract Rate will provide you with a less favourable conversion rate for the Contract Amount. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contingent Rate will be higher. Accordingly, this will favourably impact the rate at which the Contingent Amount is exchanged on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached.

- a higher Contingent Rate will provide you with a more favourable outcome on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level, the Contract Rate will be lower. Accordingly, this will adversely impact the rate at which the Contract Amount is exchanged on the Maturity Date.
- a lower Contingent Rate will provide you with a less favourable outcome on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contract Rate will be higher. Accordingly, this will favourably impact the rate at which the Contract Amount is exchanged on the Maturity Date.
- setting the Trigger Level closer to the current Global Foreign Exchange Rate and/or making the Cut-Off Time further in the future will increase the likelihood of the Trigger Level being reached and therefore increase the likelihood of you dealing the Contingent Amount at the Contingent Rate. Because of the Zero Cost Structure, shifting the Trigger Level will require the Contract Rate and/or the Contingent Rate to change.

Scenario 2 – Foreign Currency Receipt

You are an Australian based exporter with recurring receipts of USD 100,000 every three months for goods sold overseas. On each date, you need to convert the USD you receive into AUD.

Assume the current Market Foreign Exchange Rate is 0.6700, the three-month Forward Exchange Rate is 0.6710 and the six-month Forward Exchange Rate is 0.6720.

If I do nothing, what exchange rate risks do I face?

If you do nothing, the amount of AUD you will receive on any quarterly settlement date for your USD will depend on the Market Foreign Exchange Rate applicable at that time.

If the AUD/USD exchange rate goes up, the USD will become less valuable and as a consequence, you will receive less AUD when it is time to exchange the USD.

Assume in this example that the Market Foreign Exchange Rate rises to 0.7200, then you will receive:

AUD 138,888.89 (= USD 100,000/0.7200)

If the Market Foreign Exchange Rate goes down, the opposite occurs and you will receive more AUD. Assume the Market Foreign Exchange Rate falls to 0.6200, then you will receive:

AUD 161,290.32 (= USD 100,000/0.6200)

How will a TFC change this?

Assume that while you expect the AUD/USD exchange rate to remain around current levels, you wish to protect your next quarterly receipt against the AUD appreciating against the USD. In addition you have a target rate in mind at which you are prepared to exchange your following USD receipt in six-months' time.

You enter into a TFC to sell USD 100,000 for AUD in three months' time (on the Maturity Date) and set the Contract Rate at 0.6660. You also nominate a Contingent Rate of 0.6560, a Contingent Amount of USD 100,000, a Contingent Delivery Date of six months and agree the Cut-Off Time to be 10am Sydney time on the Maturity Date. Based on these details we determine the Trigger Level to be 0.6610.

The possible outcomes are:

- On the Maturity Date you will exchange the Contract Amount (USD 100,000) at the Contract Rate of 0.6660. You will receive:

AUD 150,150.15 (= USD 100,000/0.6660)

and,

- On the Contingent Delivery Date, either:

- if the Market Foreign Exchange Rate at the Cut- Off Time is below the Trigger Level of 0.6610 you will exchange the Contingent Amount (USD 100,000) at the Contingent Rate of 0.6560. You will receive:

AUD 152,439.02
(= USD 100,000 / 0.6560)

or,

- if the Market Foreign Exchange Rate at the Cut- Off Time is above the Trigger Level of 0.9075 you have no obligations in respect of the Contingent Amount. However, you may choose to separately exchange your Contingent Amount at the Market Foreign Exchange Rate.

How can I change the range of outcomes?

You can change the range of possible outcomes by changing the Contract Rate, the Trigger Level, the Cut- Off Time and the Contingent Rate. Once these details are agreed the possible outcomes on the Maturity Date and the Contingent Delivery Date can be determined.

When agreeing to these rates you need to consider that:

- the Contract Amount is always exchanged at the Contract Rate on the Maturity Date.
- a lower Contract Rate will provide you with a more favourable conversion rate for the Contract Amount. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contingent Rate will be higher. Accordingly, this will adversely impact the rate at which the Contingent Amount is exchanged on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached.
- a higher Contract Rate will provide you with a less favourable conversion rate for the Contract Amount. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contingent Rate will be lower. Accordingly, this will favourably impact the rate at which the Contingent Amount is exchanged on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached.
- a lower Contingent Rate will provide you with a more favourable outcome on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level, the Contract Rate will be higher. Accordingly, this will adversely impact the rate at which the Contract Amount is exchanged on the Maturity Date.
- a higher Contingent Rate will provide you with a less favourable outcome on the Contingent Delivery Date where the Trigger Level is reached. However, because of the Zero Cost Structure, for a given Trigger Level the Contract Rate will be lower. Accordingly, this will favourably impact the rate at which the Contract Amount is exchanged on the Maturity Date.
- setting the Trigger Level closer to the current Global Foreign Exchange Rate and/or making the Cut-Off Time further in the future will increase the likelihood of the Trigger Level being reached and therefore increase the likelihood of you dealing the Contingent Amount at the Contingent Rate. Because of the Zero Cost Structure, shifting the Trigger Level will require the Contract Rate and/or the Contingent Rate to change.

Documentation and Confirmation

What documentation is required?

Master dealing agreement

You will need to sign a master dealing agreement if you want to enter into this product. This agreement will either be our own specific dealing agreement or an industry standard master dealing agreement.

We will advise you which master dealing agreement you need to sign.

The master dealing agreement governs the dealing relationship between you and us and sets out the terms and conditions that will apply to all transactions that we enter into with you that are covered by the agreement. In particular, they document the situations where those transactions can be terminated and the way the amount to be paid following termination is calculated.

You will be provided with a copy of the relevant master dealing agreement and we strongly recommend that you fully consider its terms before signing. You should obtain independent advice if you do not understand any aspect of the document.

If there is any inconsistency between this PIS and the master dealing agreement, the master dealing agreement prevails.

Documentation for certain restricted currencies

Other documentation may be required when certain currencies are involved. Where possible, we will attempt to inform you of any specific requirements; however you are responsible for complying with any legal or regulatory obligations. We suggest that you seek and obtain your own independent, expert advice in relation to such matters.

Email or facsimile authority and indemnity

If you would like to provide us with email or facsimile instructions in relation to this product, we will require you to complete an email or facsimile authority and indemnity. The purpose of the email or facsimile authority and indemnity is to protect us against the consequences of acting upon instructions which may not represent your genuine wishes, but which appear to us to be genuine.

Other documentation

You may be requested to complete additional documentation before you enter into this product, depending on the outcome of our assessment of your creditworthiness. We will inform you if any further documentation is required at that time.

What about Confirmations?

The commercial terms of a particular transaction with us will be agreed at the time of dealing. This may occur over the phone or electronically. Once we reach an agreement, we are both bound by those terms.

Shortly after entering into this product, we will send you a Confirmation outlining the commercial terms of the transaction. You will need to sign this Confirmation and return it to us. This Confirmation evidences the transaction entered into under your master agreement with us.

It is extremely important that you check the Confirmation to make sure that it accurately records the terms of the transaction. If there is a discrepancy between your understanding and the Confirmation, you will need to raise it with us as a matter of urgency.

General Information

What information we need from you

In order to enter into this product with you, we'll need some important details from you. Depending on the legal nature of your business (company, partnership etc) you will be required to provide certain documents and information to us.

Under the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (AML/CTF Laws) it is a requirement that the account holder and all signatories to the account must be identified. So if you're opening an account for the first time this applies to you. It also applies to any account holder or signatory who is not an existing customer.

The identification requirements can be met by providing us with the necessary identity documentation. For information on the documents required please contact us directly or visit our website; the contact details for both alternatives are provided on the inside front cover of this PIS.

If the account holder or any of the signatories to an account are not identified in terms of the AML/CTF Laws, the account will be blocked for all withdrawals, until they are identified.

If you are an existing customer, an account signatory (or any other cardholder), identification requirements may have previously been satisfied so you don't need to provide it again, unless you are asked to do so by us.

Financial crimes monitoring

We are bound by laws that impose regulatory and compliance obligations, including obligations in relation to the prevention of money laundering and the financing of terrorism, which are the AML/CTF Laws. In order for us to meet our regulatory and compliance obligations, we perform certain control and monitoring activities.

Upon entering into this product with us, you agree and provide the following undertakings and agree to indemnify us against any potential loss arising from any breach by you of such undertakings that:

- you are not and will not enter into any agreement with us under an assumed name;
- any funds used by you to enter into an agreement with us have not been derived from or related to any criminal activities;
- any payments received from us will not be used in relation to any criminal activities;
- if we ask, you will provide us with additional information we reasonably require from you for the purposes of meeting our regulatory and compliance obligations, including the obligations under AML/CTF Laws (including information about the source of funds used to settle this product); and

- you and your transaction with us will not initiate, engage or effect a transaction that may be in breach of Australian law or sanctions (or the law or sanctions of any other country).

You should be aware that:

- we may obtain information about you or any beneficial owner of an interest in an agreement with us from third parties if we believe this is necessary to comply with our regulatory and compliance obligations, including AML/CTF Laws;
- transactions may be delayed, blocked, frozen or refused where we have reasonable grounds to believe that they breach Australian law or sanctions or the law or sanctions of any other country;
- where transactions are delayed, blocked, frozen or refused, we are not liable for any loss you suffer (including consequential loss) in connection with this product; and
- where legally obliged to do so, we may disclose information that we hold about you to our related bodies corporate or service providers, other banks, or relevant regulatory and/or law enforcement agencies (whether in or outside of Australia).

Foreign Tax Residents

We are required under domestic and international laws to collect and report financial and account information relating to individuals and organisations who are, or may be, foreign tax residents. We may ask you whether you or any shareholder, beneficiary, settlor or controlling person are a foreign tax resident from time to time, such as when you open an account with us, or if your circumstances change. If you do not provide this information to us we may be required to limit the services we provide to you.

Unless you tell us otherwise, by completing any application, you certify that any shareholder, named beneficiary, settlor or controlling person is not a foreign tax resident. You must tell us if you, or any shareholder, named beneficiary, settlor or controlling person is, or becomes, a foreign tax resident (unless an exemption applies, such as for shareholders of listed companies). Where there are no named beneficiaries (e.g. for beneficiaries identified only as a class) you must tell us if a beneficiary is a foreign tax resident immediately when any decision is made to identify and make a distribution to them. You may contact us to provide foreign tax residence information by calling 1300 720 314 Option 1.

We cannot give tax advice, so please contact your independent tax advisor if you need help finding out whether any person is a foreign tax resident.

Telephone conversations

The terms of this product are usually agreed verbally over the phone or electronically over an online system. Once we have reached an agreement, we are both bound by the terms of the transaction.

Conversations with our dealing room and settlement departments are recorded. This is standard market practice. We do this to make sure that we have complete records of the details of all transactions. Recorded conversations are retained for a limited period and are usually used where there is a dispute and for staff training and monitoring purposes.

You will need to advise our dealer if you do not wish to be recorded. However, we will not enter into any transaction over the telephone unless the conversation is recorded.

Taxation

Taxation law is complex and its application to this product will depend on your particular circumstances. We make no claim that this product will provide a beneficial or appropriate tax outcome for you. When determining whether this product is suitable for your circumstances, you should consider the impact it will have on your own taxation position and seek professional advice on the tax implications it may have for you.

This document has been produced for use by Australian tax residents only. If you are not a resident of Australia for tax purposes and have entered into this product, you may be required to withhold tax on payments you make. If you are required to withhold an amount of tax on any payments you make as a non-resident, you are liable to gross up that payment such that we receive all amounts clear of any tax.
